Melfred Borzall is a leading manufacturer of tools for horizontal directional drilling located in Santa Maria, California. Since 1946, the company has designed and built drill bits, reamers, swivels, and pullers that have helped install underground utilities worldwide. Melfred Borzall's tooling innovations include the Eagle Claw, the best drill head for hard grounds; the Iron Fist, for drilling cobbles; the Terminator, the fastest drilling reamer available anywhere; the FastBack system of housings, cutters, swivels, and pullers for super-productive direct pullback; the Zapalert electric strike alarm; and the Steep Taper UltraBit, the world's most popular HDD paddle bit. The company offers its quality products through dealers in the United States and many international countries, giving you access to local inventories and expertise in trenchless technology. After more than half a century of ongoing development and innovation, Melfred Borzall's Directional Depot HDD tools continue to lead the industry with quality construction, productive designs, and value pricing.
