Trenchless International is an industry magazine dedicated to underground trenchless construction, offering trenchless industry news and information, and promoting its achievements and advancing discussion and debate. This industry magazine is the official publication of the International Society for Trenchless Technology (ISTT) making it a trusted and respected source and the only truly international magazine dedicated entirely to Trenchless Technology. The Trenchless International magazine is a vital communication tool for the international trenchless industry, facilitating the exchange of information between ISTT members across national borders. Trenchless International is published four times a year.
