Arandas' Construction, LLC is a leading trenchless construction company headquartered in Hydro, Oklahoma, specializing in underground utility installations. The company offers placement of all types of underground utilities such as water, gas, electric, telecommunications, and sewer through directional boring and trenching. Arandas' Construction recommends the trenchless installation method, where conventional open-cut techniques are not feasible due to above-ground obstructions or where high restoration costs make open-cut excavation cost-prohibitive.
